

Kill A Watt Monitors

Are the electronics and appliances in your home energy-efficient? The West Linn Public Library has three Kill A Watt monitors available for checkout. Kill A Watt monitors measure the energy usage of household appliances and electronics so that you can find out how much energy your microwave, computer, TV, and other electronics are using when they are plugged-in. Click here to check the availability of our monitors.

The Kill A Watt monitors are made available thanks to Energy Trust of Oregon.
