Project Details:

The Stafford Bridge crossing the Tualatin River will be replaced in 2009. The bridge will be open for traffic during construction. The current bridge is safe, but is structurally and functionally deficient. The new bridge will be built slightly to the west of the current bridge to improve the alignment and prepare for the widening of Stafford Road. The new bridge will be two-lanes wide and will include sidewalks and bike paths. It is scheduled to open by Fall 2010.
