

Erratic Driving Leads to Arrest of Two for Delivery and Possession of Controlled Substances

Press release date: 2009-06-30

WEST LINN - Early Saturday morning, June 28, 2009, Officer Jason Dolan stopped a late model Saturn after seeing it make a series of wide turns, straddle the lane divider, and he was unable to see a registration or license plate as required by law. He stopped the car in the area of 11th Street and Willamette Falls Drive and contacted the two occupants of the vehicle.

During the course of his investigation, he discovered 163 Ecstasy tablets (MDMA) and 19 Suboxone tablets. Suboxone is a prescription drug.

Officer Dolan arrested Andrey P. BOLOKHOSKIY 19, of Happy Valley, and Alex V. GORBATENKO 23, of Vancouver, WA each on charges of Delivery of Controlled Substances (DCS) within 100 feet of a school, and Possession of Controlled Substances (PCS) Ecstasy and (PCS) Suboxone. Both men were lodged at the Clackamas County jail in lieu of $72,500 bail.

These subjects were arrested about one block from the Willamette Primary School in West Linn's Willamette Neighborhood.

The value of the Ecstasy is estimated at $3,600
