

Development Review

The goals of the development review process are to provide a clear, consistent, timely, and accessible planning process needed to review development applications and enforce the Community Development Code, in a manner understandable to developers and the general public; and to provide staff review and recommendations on development proposals, which are based on City adopted policy.

Source URL (retrieved on 2012-05-10 06:49): <http://westlinnoregon.gov/planning/development-review>