CJ McCollum Youth Basketball Camp

Boys & Girls 5-14 (All Skill Levels)
July 28 – July 31, 2014
Rosemont Ridge Middle School

First-round draft pick CJ McCollum, from Canton, Ohio had a rough start in the NBA after breaking a bone in his foot during training camp before the start of this season. In January, he made his NBA debut and has been “blazing trails” ever since!

CJ will attend camp each day, interacting with the campers, teaching, signing autographs and refereeing select games. Our commitment to age-specific drills and activities will provide each camper with a unique set of tools that are not traditionally taught in typical basketball camps.

In addition to basketball and athletic skills, campers will receive a skills evaluation, camp T-shirt, group photo, and valuable nutrition and life lesson tips to help them achieve success in every area of their lives. This engaging camp offers a fun and safe environment where your child will attain the basketball skills necessary to excel in the game. Sign up for the CJ McCollum Youth Basketball Camp online at WestLinnOregon.gov.

A 'Tail'-All With Carolina

Golden retriever joins the library's roster for its popular Tales to Tails program. Fresh from the groomer and a visit with patients at Oregon Health & Sciences University, Carolina granted us a short visit at the West Linn Public Library along with her “mom,” Ellen Worsham.

Carolina is the newest dog to join the ranks as a friendly, furry face for children to read books to in a cozy nook under the stairs at the library.

Though beat from her full schedule of playing, romping and getting loved on, Carolina agreed to answer a few questions.

- How old are you? “7 in people years, 49 in dog years.”
- Where did you get your name? “I was born in South Carolina, just like my mommy.”
- Why are you a good therapy dog? “I’ve been told I have a good disposition. I’m good with people, plus I’m calm, obedient and have good manners.”
- What is your best attribute? “I’m a Velcro dog. I have to be near you all the time.”
- Why do you enjoy being read to? “Because I love learning new things.”
- Favorite toy? “My artic puff”
- Favorite book? “Hunger Games’ and ‘Harry Potter.’”
- Favorite treat? “Do I have to pick just one? Hot dogs and peanut butter.”
- Favorite place? “On my mommy’s bed or Mary S. Young Park playing in the river.”

About Tales to Tails: Kids sign up for 20-minute sessions to read to a dog. Each child chooses a book and how much reading and petting to do. Reading to the dogs increases enthusiasm for reading, develops reading skills, teaches children how to interact with pets and promotes confidence.

Reservations are necessary. Call 503-656-7853, ext. 4, or stop by the kids' desk at the library to reserve your time. Date: Wednesdays and Thursdays beginning in September 2014. Time: 3:30-5 p.m. Place: West Linn Library Youth Services.
