

CITY OF WEST LINN
Online Interactive Mapping

Quick Tips for using West Linn's Geographic Information System (GIS)

Use this guide to access maps from your home or business computer

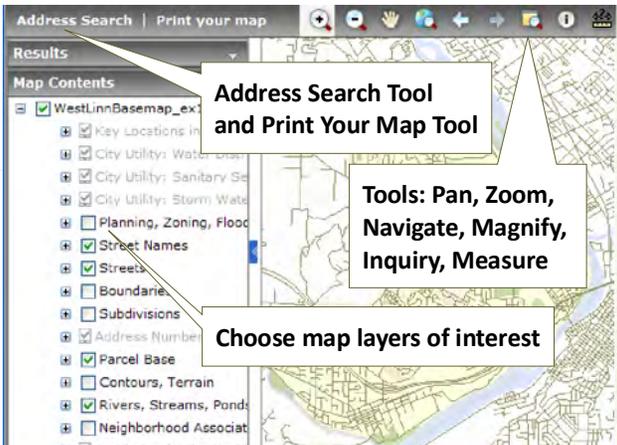

Step 1: Public Access to published GIS Maps are available at: <http://westlinnoregon.gov/maps>

Step 2: You can choose several different mapping applications. For starters click on: West Linn Interactive Mapping, Public Access

You will be taken to the Map Disclaimer page. Read carefully, then click the Accept button

The mapping application will load. Here's what it looks like:

Step 3: Using the Search Tool.

Results will display. Right click and choose Zoom to and the location will be displayed on the map.

Step 4: Choose your map layers.

Once you are at the location, there are a variety of map layers to choose from. Simply click the check mark and the map layer will display.

Utility System Maps are the most popular on our web site. You can choose from the City's Water Distribution System, Sanitary Sewer Pipes, or Storm Water.

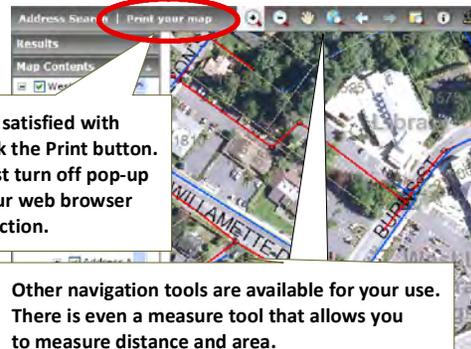

Step 5:

Print your map.

When you are satisfied with your map, click the Print button. Note: you must turn off pop-up blockers in your web browser to use this function.

Other Tools

Other navigation tools are available for your use. There is even a measure tool that allows you to measure distance and area.

Results may vary depending on your internet speed & network traffic.
