Hello All –

As summer is winding down, I am thinking about the coziness that Fall brings and how I always look forward to the changing of seasons and all the holidays that are coming. It is my favorite time of year, and though things will look different, don't doubt that Tiffany and I are brainstorming ideas on how we can still be festive, have fun and stay safe.

We really enjoyed seeing some of you at our last Book Grab and we will be hosting another one on Friday, Sept. 4th (see flyer on page 3.) We had so many new releases and popular donations last time, please come out and get some new books and say hello.

We are also hosting a limited spot Paint & Sip Class in September (see flyer on page 4,) and really hope to offer more of these small class opportunities soon. Please regularly check our website or social media for the latest activities and events as things progress. We have begun scheduling for Fall and would love to hear from any small groups that are interested in meeting at the Center, as we may have some limited space within our guidelines to host. I am missing the hustle and bustle of our Center, but I know many of you are staying busy and active during this beautiful weather.

Warmly,

~ Meghan & Tiffany

Some Happenings

A relaxing get together with friends on Saturday, August 15th at the Ice Cream Sandwich Drive-Thru.

Some classes have started up again in a limited form with no more than 10 participants. They are socially distanced, wearing masks, and their temperatures are taken and they answer questions before each class to ensure safety for each student. If the weather permits, the class is held outdoors on the large cobblestone patio, and masks are then optional.

To quote Patti McCoy. "I continued to do my yoga routine at home during the quarantine from March through June, but it has been a real joy to return to class this last two weeks and share the feelings of peace with fellow classmates!"
